MANAGER OF WATER RESOURCES

The Opportunity:

We're seeking a Manager of Water Resources to lead our department in a collaborative, fast-paced environment. Reporting to the General Manager, this position is based in San Andreas, with flexibility for remote work and travel. The department works on water rights, forest management, SGMA implementation, FERC relicensing, and environmental programs, while building relationships with key State, Federal, and local agencies.

Why CCWD?

It's a place where others vacation, but you can call home—an amazing opportunity to live, work, and play in a stunning rural environment, all within reach of the Central Valley, Sacramento, and the East Bay.

- Competitive Salary: $113,136 to $151,836.
- Benefits package and CalPERS Retirement.

What We're Looking For:

- Experience with complex water rights (5+ years preferred, ideally in California).
- Strong research, policy, and project management skills.
- A collaborative communicator.

About Us:

CCWD provides essential water and wastewater services to 30,000 residents across three watersheds and the Eastern San Joaquin groundwater basin. Additionally, it owns two hydroelectric projects. Nestled in the beautiful Sierra Nevada foothills, Calaveras County offers affordable living, safe communities, and year-round outdoor adventures—from hiking and boating to wine tasting and skiing.
