The mission of the Calaveras County Water District (CCWD) is "to protect, enhance and develop rich water resources to the highest beneficial use for Calaveras County, while maintaining cost-conscious, reliable service, and our quality of life, through responsible management." Formed in 1946, CCWD is a public governmental agency located on the western slope of the Sierra Nevada, in the heart of the California Motherlode.

The District's boundaries encompass approximately 640,000 acres of land ranging from the San Joaquin Valley to the Sierra Nevada Mountains. As a special district, CCWD's powers include provision of public water service; water supply development and planning; and wastewater treatment, disposal, and recycling.
